ATLANTA, Ga., April 30.-The Constitution this morning printed the report of frauds charged to have been perpetrated upon the government by Captain Oberlin

M. Carter, now serving a sentence in the military prison at Leavenworth, Kan. Accompanying the report, which was made Saturday to Mr. Erwin, is a statement from

Mr. Westcott, Carter's father-in-law, in which he repudiates Carter's statement that the assets in the affair were Westcott's. Following are extracts from Expert Johnson's report: February 10, 1893, Carter issued disburs ginning to the end of Carter's control at Savannah, and on this feature of the report, the Constitution says the figures show Carter's one-third of the spoils to have been over $550,000, exclusive of his share in the last checks for $575,749.90, which were paid over in New York at the time Carter was about to leave the district when succeeded by Captain Gillette.

Mr. Johnson's report says that Mr. Westcott in a written statement gives the government full access to his account in the ernment full access to his account in the banks and his private papers.

These show, the examiner reports, that while Carter frequently, through Greene and the Gaynors and otherwise, made Westcott a depository of money, in every instance it was turned over or invested as Carter directed. These papers show also that when the first charge of fraud was made against Carter by the board of inquiry Westcott refused to longer take Carter's securities.

The commonly accepted explanation is that the opponents of Bryan, in control the same date Carter invests $16,000 in bonds.

August 7, 1893, Carter issued disbursing check to the contractors, which was deposited by them, for $39,075, of which one-third, less $75 allowed for Carter's expenses to New York, is withdrawn by them and two days later Carter invests $13,000 in bonds.

December 4, 1893, Carter issued disbursing checks to the contractors, which were deposited by them, for $63,075, of which one-third, less $75 allowed for Carter's expenses to New York, is withdrawn by them, and on the same day Carter invests $21,000 in securities. of the party machinery in the state, wish to leave the selection of delegates to the Kansas City convention to the committees Kansas City convention to the committees instead of to the people of the party, believing that in this way an anti-Bryan delegation from this state can be secured. Three democratic congressional conventions have been called. These are in the eighth, at Delaware, on May 15; in the fourteenth, at Shelby, on June 7, and in the fifth, at Defiance, on May 2. In only one of these is there any chance to elect a democrat—that is in the fifth, represented now by David Meekison. He will probably be returned for another term.
